

INSTALLATION

Locate the OBD port on your vehicle and plug the device into the port!

Occasionally, your OBD port may be hidden behind a panel. If the OBD GPS tracker is plugged into the port, it might not be possible to fit the covering panel back if there is not much clearance from the panel to the port. Even though the OBD tracker is a low profile type, you may need to purchase a slim profile extension cable to allow the tracker to be connected and positioned near the port instead of plugged directly into the port.
